

MOVING DAY HERE, NOW MEANS WEEK AT DOUBLE PRICES

Uptown Movers Charge $25 a Load and Piano Extra for Local Hauls.

KEPT BUSY SUNDAY.

Thousands Caught Between
Oct. 1 Leases and Shortage of Vehicles.

Unprecedented prices are being paid in Manhattan today for moving vans, and even at that there are not enough to go around. Yesterday, anticipating the rush, thousands of families moved just the same as if it were not Sunday, and many of them paid $25 the van-haul to get their goods transferred to new homes.

Many who moved yesterday did it because they could do it more cheaply than today or tomorrow. Nearly every street in the Washington Heights section was filled with vans, and there were hundreds anxious to move who could not get transportation at any cost.

Those persons who have to pay $25 do not have many, one of these costs from $5 to $25 extra, even where it fits in the van with the other furniture.

Almost any day this week, an average price will be $25 a load. The price varies with the number of trips to be climbed and not with the distance hauled except when the moving is from "one town to another." In a zone between Sixty-second and One Hundred and Forty-fifth streets all distances count the same. A few years ago $10 a load was considered high. Last week no moving concern would contract to do any hauling this week for less than $10 a load, preferring to hold out for that or a higher price. This was for the Harlem and Washington Heights section. Last week prices ranged from $12 to $15 a load. The price last year was $8 and $10.

BACK TO LOWER WEST SIDE TO AVOID SUBWAY CRUSH.

Last year there was a rush to the section far away from the city, but, apparently, there is a desire to get nearer downtown because of the subway rush. The old-fashioned flats between Eighty-fifth and One Hundred and Tenth streets on the west side are being bought again after several years of neglect. A small army seems to want to escape the horrors of mass hours.

Among the thousands who have no reason to rejoice today are those who could not pay the increased cost of moving, or could not get vans at any price. Many others are going into apartments that will not be vacated until tomorrow. Painting and repapering may take several days longer, as men of these crafts have more than they can do and when these unfortunate ones are at it to get vans later in the week at $15 a load they run the risk of being used by the landlord for staying after the expiration of the lease of the apartments they are quitting.

The number of families moving to the country seems to be about equalled by those coming to town to live. Real estate men are busy with the traditional "Moving Day" in the city. It is now more correct to say "Moving Week" for hundreds who profit by past experience now move from one to two weeks before the first of October to escape the rush, while others wait until the rush is over. If the increase continues, in a few years moving day may be still more elastic to make home seeking comfortable for a shifting population. This year certain sections of Queens Borough are attracting large numbers of flat dwellers, while large apartment

Home Rule Before Christmas Says Redmond to Evening World

W. H. K. REDMOND

Tell the Irish race in America through the Evening World that Home Rule for Ireland is a certainty. The bill giving my country the right to govern itself will be passed through its last stage in the House of Commons before Christmas. In less than eighteen months King George will proclaim the opening of an Irish Parliament in Dublin.

While the bill may not be quite as liberal in its provisions as some of the Irish people in the United States desire, it has been accepted unanimously by those at home and their wishes should be respected.

The opposition to the bill by the Orangemen in Ulster is merely the bluster of those who seek the downfall of the Liberal Ministry and who halt at nothing to further their plans. These noisy malcontents manage to get a great amount of publicity. On this side of the Atlantic they are given undue importance—far beyond the proportion of their influence or power.

—Statement of WILLIAM H. K. REDMOND to the Evening World.

HOME BUILDING IN MANHATTAN IS FALLING OFF.

One thing pointed out by real estate experts is the increasing popularity of apartment dwelling. A few years ago many wealthy persons could not be induced to live in apartments. They wanted private dwellings with plenty of yard room, if possible.

Now they seem eager to get into apartments, and many of them have left their private houses and gone to live in the better or expensive apartment houses. This is given as one reason why apartment houses are being built every year, with rentals going up simultaneously.

The high cost of living is brought home again to most of those who are moving. Rents in many sections have gone up, because of the cost of heating and operating the elevators, etc. This is true especially in new houses, where the land costs more and the expenses of construction were more than they would have been a year ago.

Home building in Manhattan, according to the men who are familiar with the real estate, has gradually decreased and will continue to do so. In fact, it is pointed out, it will not be long until the residential strength of Manhattan will begin to shrink. It has been growing at the rate of about 50,000 a year, but since Jan. 1 Manhattan buildings have erected new homes for only approximately 2,000 persons.

These include 130 new tenement or apartment houses, accommodating 4,514 families as against 200 houses last year with accommodations for 7,021 families or 33,306 persons. The high record mark was in 1906, when houses with rooms for 15,133 persons were erected. The Bronx has put up this year 41 tenement-houses for 4,600 persons, and Queens 212 houses, accommodating 6,615 persons.

FIRST OFFENSE, HE CRIES, BUT HIS FINGER PRINTS TELL ANOTHER STORY

Ten-Year Police Record Confronts Prisoner in the Identification Bureau.

Just as a matter of formality the police took Benjamin Silverberg's finger prints today after he had pleaded with tears in his eyes that the "one mistake of his life" he kept from his young wife. And through the Identification Bureau they got the following record for the last ten of Silverberg's twenty years:

1902—Sent to House of Refuge as incorrigible at age of ten.

1904—Paroled.

1905—Returned to House of Refuge for petty larceny.

1906—Sent to Elmira for burglary.

Among other things they found he had been implicated in a shooting in Broome street two years ago as a member of the "Black" gang and had done a third stretch in the familiar House of Refuge; also that he had been arrested on a serious charge preferred by the girl who is now his wife.

Silverberg, with Hyman Fink, twenty-three years old, who said he was an expressman living at No. 141 Henry street, was arrested last night by Police Officer Morrissey of the Madison street station, after a chase through Division street. Morrissey, while on post at East Broadway and Pike street, noticed that two men with bags over their shoulders had entered a hallway adjoining a store at No. 124 East Broadway. With Max Solomon, a private watchman, the policeman got to the fur shop just in time to see two men emerging. They entered a restaurant, leaving their bags behind. Morrissey stepped toward them and they started to run. They dodged into a hallway. When they disappeared both wore caps, but Silverberg was adjusting a Fedora as Morrissey dashed open the hall door.

"They ran right through the house," volunteered Silverberg.

"Thanks," said the policeman. "You'll have to come with me, too."

After Morrissey had found Fink hiding behind a barrel in the rear yard and had found a Jimmy, a pipe cutter and a brace and bit in the bags left at the restaurant, Silverberg began his pleading that news of his predicament be kept from his wife. Even the evidence of the record card didn't frighten him, and he said he would insist, when he got to Justice Market Court, that reporters be excluded from the hearing.

Girl Was Kitty Dowling.

The girl found by Policeman O'Shea at Rockaway and Foster avenues, Brooklyn, Friday night, unable to remember anything about herself except that her name was Kitty, was identified today at the Kings County Hospital by Mrs. Murray Scanlon of No. 228 Prospect Park West. Mrs. Scanlon said that the girl was her cousin, Kitty Dowling, who had left her home two years ago after a slight quarrel and of whom the family had lost all trace since. Miss Dowling recognized her cousin and they made friends, but she was unable to remember where she had been during the two years.

SURELY TAKE "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED.

Sweetens your stomach, clears your head and thoroughly cleanses your liver and 30 feet of bowels of sour bile, foul gases and clogged-up waste.

All those days when you feel miserable, headachy, bilious and dull are due to torpid liver and sluggish bowels. The days when your stomach is sour and full of gas, when you have indigestion, the nights when your nerves twinge and you are restless and can't sleep could be avoided with a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs. Isn't it foolish to be distressed when there is such a pleasant way to overcome it?

Give your inactive liver and ten yards of waste-clogged bowels a thorough cleansing this time. Put an end to constipation.

Take a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs to-night, sure, and just see for yourself by morning how gently but thoroughly all the sour bile, undigested fermenting food and clogged-up waste matter is moved on and out of your system—no nausea—no griping—no weakness.

You simply can't have your liver inactive and your thirty feet of bowels constipated with sour, decaying waste matter and feel well. The need of a laxative is a natural need, but with delicious Syrup of Figs you are not drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot injure.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with scorn, any of the so-called Fig Syrup imitations. They are meant to deceive you. Look on the label. The genuine, old reliable, bears the name, California Fig Syrup Company.
